HISTORIC RESOURCE INVENTORY – BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

CONTINUATION SHEET

60 Boston Post Rd

Interrelationship of buildings and surroundings

The Madison town line and East River are just to the east of the property. The property is a mile and a half to the north of Long Island Sound and two miles to the northeast of the Guilford Green.

Other notable features of building or site

Along the east elevation is an open deck and a shed-roof dormer protrudes from the east slant of the roof. In the rear (on the south elevation) of the house is an addition. Greek Revival features include the door surround and overhanging eaves with return cornices.

Historical or Architectural importance

In 1846, Hotchkiss purchased property on the south side of Boston Post Road near East River Bridge from the heirs of Roswell Evarts. Here he set up Hotchkiss Shipyard and went to business with his son, T. Dwight Hotchkiss. Later on – they jointly owned two other businesses in town: a saw mill and the brick factory on High Street. In 1868 due to the railroad and the Civil War – the Hotchkiss Shipyard closed. Throughout it's time the shipyard built and launched 32 vessels including sloops, schooners, barks, and ships.

Later owners include James Rogers (1876), Stanley Lewandowski (1910), and Sophia Majeska.
