95 Boston Street

Interrelationship of building and surroundings

Less than a mile to the west is the Guilford Green, and less than a mile to the south of the property is the Guilford Fair Grounds.

Other notable features of building or site

Italianate features include the square form of the house and the hip roof. Two large double-hung sash windows with shutters are spaced evenly along the first story of the north façade. Just above the roof of the porch are an additional two large double-hung sash windows. It is assumed that the main entry to the house is on the west elevation.

Historical or Architectural importance

Earl B. Leete. Edwin A. Leete built this house on Boston Street before moving to Fair Street where he built an octagon shaped house. His son, Edward M. Leete, was born in 1858 in the octagon house. Edwin A. Leete served in the Civil War and fought in Antietam. He died in 1911 and is buried in Alderbrook Cemetery. A later owner of the house was A. H. Lombard.
