21 Shell Beach Road

Buildings and Surroundings

The area is mostly residential but also has open marsh land to the east and Long Island Sound adjacent to the south end of the property. The driveway extends south off of Island Bay Circle and ends at the northeast side of the house, which is set back from the road.

Notable Features

Three two over two hung sash windows are on the second floor level while directly underneath are two more of the same windows and a front door. All the window and door trim is dark green. The paneled front door is light brown with two windows at the top. On the east side elevation, inset with the ell of the cross gable, is a hip roof open porch with another light brown door entry. A full façade front porch that wrapped around to the west side of the house was removed at some point according to historic photos.
