CONTINUATION SHEET

105 Union Street

Notable Features

Two of the windows are on the first level with an entry door on the west side of the front facade. The door surround has two pilasters and a large, simple entablature. A stone stoop leads up to the front entry. A small wing is attached to the west elevation with another door entry under a covered porch.

Historical/Architectural Significance

Between 1858 and 1864, he worked for Alfred G. Hull to construct a section of Sachem's Head Hotel on the waterfront. He had a prolific career with seventeen houses surviving in Guilford. His house, that he built, was located at 52 Pearl Street.
